BARBARESCO AND BAROLO: LE LANGHE

Nebbiolo is the most precious grape grown in Piemonte and the base of some of the most awarded and historically important wines in Italy such as Barolo and Barbaresco. Don't be fooled by the light concentration of color, the wines have strong tannic structure and an exquisite, complex and elegant bouquet with typical notes of fresh wild berries, saddle leather and tobacco.

VENETO'S CORVINA BLENDS AND AMARONE

Three varietals, Rondinella, Corvina and Molinara. These grapes are the base for fragrant Valpolicella and for the bigger Amarone. Amarone is produced by adding a must made of grapes dried for 90 days to the regular grape must for higher alcohol and to obtain a fuller, more complex wine.

BRUNELLO IN MONTALCINO: KING OF SANGIOVESE

A long time ago in this little Tuscan hill town, Ferruccio Biondi Santi isolated a premium clone of the Sangiovese Grosso grape called "Brunello" giving birth to the tradition which is still alive today. Sangiovese's deep red fruits, notes of fresh tabacco, saddle leather and purple flowers suit up this Italian champion.

BOLGHERI: INTERNATIONAL VARIETALS MEETS TOSCANA

Close to the Mediterranean Sea, Bolgheri is a part of Toscana designated to the prestigious Bordeaux varietals. In the 50's, a passionate winemaker first planted stocks of Cabernet Sauvignon, Cabernet Franc and Merlot, turning the first chapter of Bolgheri winemaking as we know it today. The terroir of this specific area gave the varietals an exceptional expression of their capabilities, and in your glass, these no-compromise and full bodied wines will evolve, rendering different nuances every hour.
